Local Electronics Manufacturing Company TMD Technologies Excels at Fundraising for London's Air Ambulance - and has Fun at the same time!

TMD Technologies (TMD), a Hayes-based Queen's Award-winning manufacturing company has been operating a charity of the year scheme since 2014. Charities are nominated by staff and the fund-raising activities are co-ordinated by the company's Sports & Social Team (SAS).

So far, we have supported Alzheimer's Society, Cancer Research UK, National Autistic Society and this year, London's Air Ambulance.

Dave Brown, TMD's Managing Director comments "TMD takes its corporate social responsibility very seriously and this year has broken all its previous records by raising over £4400 for the London's Air Ambulance! The SAS Team and the employees are really committed to the process and we will be choosing next year's charity soon".

TMD's Sports & Social Team visits the London's Air Ambulance Helipad at Whitechapel – Right, major fund raiser Rita Hipgrave

Rita Hipgrave a Prototype Wire Person at TMD raised over £870 by Wing Walking. Rita says "They now call me the Flying Hipgrave! I love an exciting challenge especially in a good cause. I really enjoyed our visit to the helipad to hear more about how the money will be used." Nigel Hann, TMD's Head of Sales also raised over £800 by taking part in the Prudential RideLondon-Surrey 100 cycle ride. He says "I trained hard beforehand and was elated at the finish of the ride – it was a great experience. Many thanks to Lucy Brooks of London's Air Ambulance who arranged our fascinating trip to the Helipad."
